Kudos to @user5408011, @Freakyy, @Rohit Udtukuri Q: Add html tags to FileOutputStream I'm using a FileOutputStream to write some data to a html file. String htmlCode = ""; StringWriter stringWriter = new StringWriter(); JAXBContext jaxbContext = JAXBContext.newInstance(Test.class); TransformerFactory transf = TransformerFactory.newInstance(); Transformer t = transf.newTransformer(); t.transform(new DOMSource(DocumentBuilderFactory.newInstance().newDocumentBuilder().parse(new ByteArrayInputStream(htmlCode.getBytes("UTF8")))).getDocument()), new StreamResult(stringWriter)); byte[] htmlCodeAsBytes = stringWriter.toString().getBytes(); FileOutputStream os = new FileOutputStream("a.html"); os.write(htmlCodeAsBytes); os.close(); This results in a.html containing instead of . Is there any way to add the html code tags to the resulting file? A: I have found a solution. First, we need to use a FilteredWriter instead of a StreamWriter to prevent the line break between "mockdata.txt" and Then, we need to call t.flush() before the close to flush the contents of the writer. In the end, our code looks like this: String htmlCode = ""; StringWriter stringWriter = new StringWriter(); JAXBContext jaxbContext = JAXBContext.newInstance(4bc0debe42
